

Regional Municipality of Durham Older Adult Housing Directory (2021)

Introduction

The Regional Municipality of Durham Older Adult Housing Directory was created in alignment with the Age-Friendly Durham Strategy and Action Plan goals. It is a navigation tool to help residents identify appropriate housing to meet their unique needs. This Directory offers an overview of various housing options across Durham Region, including contact information, unit sizes, rates, and level of care. For more information about wheelchair accessible units, available services, and amenities please contact the residence directly. Types of housing included in this document are private retirement homes, community housing, and long-term care homes.

Private retirement homes are communities where residents pay the full cost for their accommodations and do not receive financial assistance from the government. Independent living and supportive and assisted living are different levels of care offered by retirement homes.

Community housing is housing owned and operated by non-profit housing corporations, housing co-operatives and the Region of Durham. These providers offer rent-geared-to-income (RGI) or low-end-of-market rents, and some also have modified units for accessibility. Community housing is sometimes referred to as social housing or affordable housing.

Seniors interested in applying for RGI or modified housing must do so through Durham Access to Social Housing (DASH). RGI eligibility criteria, including income and asset limits, and information about the DASH wait list can be found on the Region of Durham's website at www.durham.ca/housing. Wait times are long and vary according to priority, household size, household type, applicant preference and turnover rate. Renting in the private sector should be considered while waiting for an RGI or modified unit on the DASH wait list.

Seniors interested in applying for low-income of market unit in community housing must contact the housing provider directly to apply. More information about seniors' community housing can be found on the Region of Durham's website at www.durham.ca/housing 905-668-7711 or Toll free: 1-800-372-1102.

Long-term care homes are regulated by the Provincial Government. Accommodation rates at these homes are set every July by the Ministry of Long-Term Care. More information about accommodation and arranging care can be found on the provincial website at Ontario.ca/longtermcare.

Geographical locations of all residences across the Region can be viewed using the Age-Friendly Durham Map Viewer.

The Region does not endorse any of these accommodations directly and the content provided is for information purposes only.

Acknowledgements

In 2015, the Region of Durham received a grant from the Province of Ontario to initiate an Age-Friendly Community planning process. The Age-Friendly Durham Strategy and Action Plan was completed in 2017, organizing goals and actions across the eight World Health Organization Age-Friendly dimensions. To date, 49 of the 67 action items are being addressed.

This project would not be possible without the collaborative efforts of the Durham Council on Aging and the Age-Friendly Staff Working Group who continue to provide leadership and subject matter expertise to ongoing Age-Friendly initiatives. Regional staff from Housing Services and Long-Term Care & Services for Seniors are acknowledged for providing valuable feedback and expert knowledge. Finally, an expression of gratitude to all housing providers willing to participate in this Directory. Collective efforts such as this brings us closer to achieving Durham's vision as an Age-Friendly community where all residents-regardless of age, ethnicity, race, gender or ability-feel included, respected, and enjoy a high quality of life.

Glossary of Terms

Community Housing

Housing owned and operated by non-profit housing corporations, housing co-operatives and the Region of Durham. These providers offer rent-geared-to-income (RGI) or low-end-of-market rents, and some also have modified units for accessibility. Community housing is sometimes referred to as social housing or affordable housing.

DASH System

Durham Access to Social Housing (DASH) is the waitlist for rent-geared-to-income units offered at community housing properties and some private landlords throughout the Region.

DRT

Durham Region Transit is the regional public transit system, serving all 8 area municipalities in Durham Region.

Independent Living

For older adults who can live independently, but still have access to additional support, medical and personal services whenever they need. Although it is considered independent living, most community housing does not offer these supports.

Long-Term Care

Long-term care offers constant care and services for people who are eligible and need extensive support. Residents pay for accommodation, but nursing and personal care are funded by the government. Accommodation rates are set by the Ministry of Long-Term Care and are standard across all homes in Ontario. Subsidies are available if eligible.

RGI

Rent-Geared-to-Income. For those who qualify, it is a housing subsidy in which the cost of rent is determined by one's income.

Respite Care

Provides short-term care for a loved one and relief for caregivers. Respite care is offered at home, short-term stays at long-term care homes, or adult day programs.

Retirement Home

A privately-owned residence that provides rental accommodation and care services (such as meals and medication administration), where residents can live independently with minimal to moderate support. Residents pay for accommodation, care, and services without subsidy or contribution from other sources. Both independent and supportive and assisted living fall under this category.

Supportive and Assisted Living

Considered a middle level of care for those who need more assistance with aspects of their daily routine (e.g., showering, taking medications, cooking meals, etc.), but for the most part, can still live independently.
